Who are you?

---

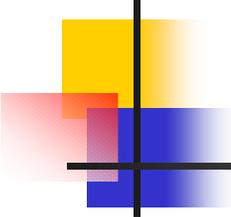

- Where are these people?
- Is this a formal or an informal situation?
- How do you know?
- What vocabulary helped you to identify the situation?

An airport – meeting someone

---

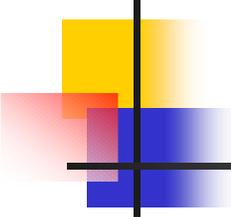

- Excuse me, are you Mr. Jensen?
- Yes, I am. Are you from Nixdorf?
- Yes, I'm Saskia Slater. How do you do?
- Pleased to meet you.
- Are you very tired after your flight?
- A little, but I'm fine.
- Good. Oh here we are. Taxi!

A conference

---

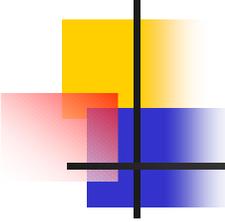

- Hello. Are you one of the organizers?
- No, I'm not. I'm a delegate, like you.
- Oh, I'm sorry.
- So you're Jacques Leclerk
- Yes but how ...
- Your badge. I'm Jeff Simpson, from CMG.
- Oh, CMG. You're big in plastics of course.
- Yes, we are. And who are you with?
- Morgan Friedman.

A restaurant – chance meeting

---

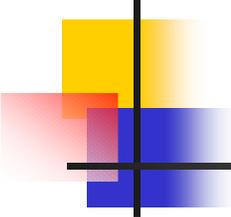

- Hello, Enrique. How are you?
- I'm fine. I'm fine. And you?
- Yes, I'm fine too. Are you alone?
- Yes, I am.
- So you're free to join me.
- Yes. Yes, I am. Thank you.
- Over here, the table by the window.

A hotel – checking in

---

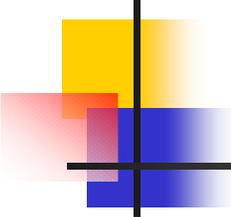

- Good afternoon. I'm from LPG.
- Ah, yes, Mr. Paulson.
- No, I'm not Mr. Paulson. I'm Mr. Leeman.
- Right. Sorry about that. Room 303.
- Thank you.
- You're welcome.

An airport – checking in

---

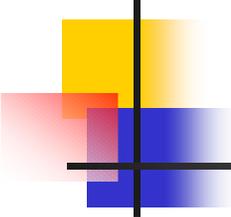

- Good morning.
- Good morning. Am I in the right place for British Airways?
- Yes.
- Oh good. My ticket and passport. Here you are.
- Thank you. Nothing to check in?
- No.
- Flight BA372, boarding at Gate 23 in about ten minutes. Your boarding pass.
- Thanks.
